WEDNESDAY EVENING, DEC. 8

The Unseen Foe.

"Better is he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city."

When you read of deeds of glory, Records true of hard-sarned fame, Wrought by heroes bold in battle, Flinching not from steel or flime,

Does your spirit burn within you? Do you long to do and dare? Storm the fortress, scale the ramparis, Plant your country's banner thera?

Every time you conquer anger Or repress a hesty word, Though you face no outward danger, Though you wield no glittering sword, You have gained a better victory

O'er the loo that lurks within, And is ever "triving, tempting, Goading, luring into sin." For far harder is the battle Waged against an unseen foe,

Who in socret dogs our footsteps, Striving for our overthrow. Than when clad in earthly armor, Glittering helmot, spear and shield, Boldly we confront the legions

Of our formen in the field. But we, too, must wear the armer God has given us for the fight,

And by faith and prayer, uncossing, We must kept it pure and bright Not in our own valor trusting Eut in Jesus' power and strength. Through who a blood alone we conquer

And obtain the palm at length. Then we, too, thail win the battle Eterm the fortress, scale the wall, And within the hely city Bafely serve the Lord of all.
